FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Woodmeister Master Builders Relocates Nantucket Office

(Nantucket, Mass.) Woodmeister Master Builders, a Holden-based company known throughout the northeast for its fine residential construction, custom cabinetry and interiors, and Lifestyle Management Services has relocated its Nantucket office. The firm completed its move to 147 Orange Street on March 1st and will occupy the first and second floor office spaces.

“We’re very excited to be closer to town,” says Ted Goodnow, CEO and Founder. “The move to 147 Orange Street is a terrific location for us. We’ve maintained a strong presence on the island for over twenty years, servicing customers both in construction and custom cabinetry, as well as with year-round home maintenance. Our business on the island is an important part of our company and we look forward to serving the needs of Nantucket residents for many more years to come.”

Office hours are 8:00 am – 5:00 pm Monday through Friday or by appointment. The office can be reached at 508-228-6611.

Woodmeister, headquartered in central Massachusetts for the past thirty one years also has offices in Newport, Rhode Island, and New York City, which are not affected by the move.

Woodmeister's Thirty One Year History

Ted and Kim Goodnow founded Woodmeister Master Builders in 1980 as a custom cabinetry and millwork shop. Since then Woodmeister has evolved into a nationally renowned leader in the discerning residential market. Today Woodmeister encompasses the entire scope of fine residential construction, custom cabinetry and interiors, and Lifestyle Management Services with sales offices located on Nantucket, Newport Rhode Island, and New York City.

Award-winning Workplace

Ted Goodnow was a finalist for Ernst & Young Entrepreneur Of The Year[®] 2010 awards in New England and Woodmeister was honored in 2009 as a Top Small Workplace[®] by The Wall Street Journal and Winning Workplaces, a non-profit organization that helps small and mid-size companies improve their workplace practices. In addition, the company received the Boston Globe's Globe 100's Top Places to Work[®] award in 2009 and 2008. In June 2009, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) presented its distinguished Safety and Health Achievement Recognition Program (SHARP) award to Woodmeister for demonstrating exemplary commitment to workplace safety and health. The Worcester Business Journal named Woodmeister its Corporate Citizen of the Year in 2007.
